

2005 Winner:
Sydney Hackford

Since becoming the student council advisor for Pleasant Grove High School, Sydney has brought many service opportunities to the school. During the holiday season, Sydney has helped students and faculty get involved with Angel Tree, a program that provides Christmas gifts to children and adults in live-in facilities, who are not allowed to receive gifts, or would be forgotten during the holidays. Through Sydney's coordination, Pleasant Grove High School hosts 300 to 500 "angels" each year.

Sydney also organizes three blood drives at the school each year, one in recognition of September 11, 2001. She also recruits students to participate in an annual "Locks of Love" drive with the Capelli Hair Institute. The student body count down as the girls donating hair line up, and Capelli Hair Institute students chop 10 inches off each girl to donate to charity. Sydney is always looking for new opportunities for Pleasant Grove High School to serve the community, and helps clubs at the school find service opportunities that fit their interests.
